HELP FAILS AND HE GOES DOWN

William A. Winston Drowned by Boat Capsizing.

Out In Metal Craft Which Filled and Sink—He Could Not Swim and Was Lost.

MANY FRIENDS IN PADUCAH

William A. (Willie) Winston, son of Dr. Rufus R. Winston, residing at 1130 Jefferson street, was drowned in the big lake of the "Chippes," string of lakes near Bayou Mills, Ky., 26 miles above Paducah on the Ohio river, yesterday afternoon about 5:30 o'clock. He was in a boat with a companion preparing to fish when the boat dipped and filled. The young man was unable to swim and the boat being of metal, sank, offering no support. His frantic efforts to keep above water prevented his companion from offering any aid, and he sank from sight after a desperate struggle and drowned.

The story of the tragedy is best told in the brief statement of the grief-stricken companion, Leslie Hale of Greenville, Ky., young Winston's companion.

"A party of five started from Paducah Saturday for Chippes' lakes to fish," he explained. "The party was composed of Mr. Winston, Herbert Martin, J. W. Worrell, of Paducah; Dr. John T. Reynolds, Sr., of Greenville, Ky., and myself. We met another party at Bayou Mills and proceeded to the lakes for sport. We carried with us a double boat, in fact, hunting boat.

"Yesterday afternoon about 5:30 o'clock we started to fish. Mr. Winston and I selected the metal boat and pushed out from the bank. There are willows in the big lake, and they set out about five feet from the bank. We pushed past the willows and started for the open lake. I was handling the paddle and in some way the boat careened. Water rushed in and I realized we would sink.

"Can you swim?" I asked him, and he replied that he could not. By this time the boat was filled and we were rapidly sinking. We had on our clothes and I realized our desperate position. I shoved out my paddle and told him to hold to it, and started out to swim.

"Winston jerked the paddle out of my hand and began to desperately struggle to keep above water. I saw the hopelessness of his position and of mine if I attempted to grasp him, and struck out for the bank, fully forty feet away.

"Dr. Thompson, another of our party, was across the lake hauling on his boat. He saw the accident, but before he was successful in getting his boat out from the bank the boat sank and he found himself powerless to render assistance.

"Mr. Winston sank and we set about to recover the body. This we did within forty-five minutes. The body was still warm and we rolled it, chafed the hands, arms and lower limbs and did every thing possible to resuscitate him but life was extinct."

SORROWFUL SCENE.

Dr. J. E. Chippes, who owns the lakes, was sent for but found the young man dead.

Dr. and Mrs. Winston were notified of the accident about 8 o'clock by long distance telephone and the corpse was prepared and brought to Paducah this morning at 10 o'clock on the steamer Royal.

A crowd of sorrowful friends and the young man's father met the boat. The scene was pathetic, and friends who had gathered to see the body and receive definite news of the death turned aside, being unable to stand the pathetic scene of the meeting.

The remains were accompanied to Paducah by Messrs. Hale and Martin, Mr. Worrell and other members of the party remaining at the lakes. They will return, however, as soon as it is possible to pack the camping outfit, the drowning having thrown gloom upon the entire party.

At the wharf the body was turned over to the Paducah Undertaking company to be prepared for burial.

The young man was 26 years old, and the only son of his parents. He was born in Dresden, Tenn., and removed to Paducah with his father eleven years ago. He received his schooling in the Paducah public schools and graduated in the class of '98. He was a bright pupil and a favorite with his teachers and schoolmates.

After leaving school the young man entered the railroad service, being employed as an accountant in the office of John Donovan, local agent for the Illinois Central. He worked his way to the best positions in the freight service but did not like the work and left it to become a pharmacist.

After a short course of preliminary study in local drug stores he went to Louisville and attended the school of pharmacy, graduating with honors. He returned to Paducah and established himself in business at Tenth street and Broadway.

He sold out two years ago and entered the mercantile business, and for some time had been bookkeeper for the Ladd-Holmes whiskey company of this city.

He was a young man of steady habits and popular with all his friends and acquaintances. News of his drowning came last night in a confused telephone message to his parents. The connections were few and little in the way of details were secured. His friends and family were shocked on learning of his death and the news gained general currency in a short time after the report had reached Paducah.

The first definite information relative to the drowning was secured this morning on the arrival of the boat with the body.

He is survived by his parents and one sister, Miss Clara Winston.

The funeral of William A. Winston will take place tonight at 8 o'clock at the residence 1122 Jefferson street. The body will be carried to Dresden, Tenn., tomorrow morning at 7 o'clock for burial. Masons will attend the services.

Today Miss Nyo brought a second action, naming Dr. Davis as defendant, and asking $20,000 damages. The college authorities aver that Miss Nyo's voice is as good now as before the operation, and deny that they influenced her action.

Dr. Class discovered the scarlet fever germ and this experimental farm will be conducted to discover a preventive. Diphtheria has been brought under control largely by the discovery of an antitoxine, and it is hoped to do the same in regard to scarlet fever. Dr. Class was here several months ago on his way to Chattanooga to look over the conditions for a farm there. He also looked over Paducah.

Vincennes-Danville, Rain.

Today's Schedule.

Jacksonville at Paducah.
Mattoon at Cairo.
Vincennes at Danville

It rained yesterday and the Indians and Hostlers from Mattoon did not play. Both teams were out in uniform but the rain began before either side began to warm up and continued until 4 o'clock. Umpire Bush waited until after the usual thirty minutes and then called "no game."

There were few fans in the grand stand and there was little dissatisfaction among those who went out. The Indians hoped to take the third game and make it two out of three, and Big Freddie Miller was slated to work for the Warriors. "Roundhouse" McCarthy was slated to throw 'em for the Hostlers and it would have been a hot game.

The break in the schedule caused by Mother Nature gave the writer time to "sort 'er look over the situation" and do some figuring. Looking at the team standing the chances of any team in the league for winning the rag is good. In fact nothing can really be told about the comparative strength of the teams.

The Indians, for instance started out as they did last season, taking in everything that came their way. They seemed well up in team work and it is to the Indians' credit that the best team work is chalked. They all give the Indians credit for this, but they say they are weak with the stick. The Indians seemed to be pretty strong hitters at the beginning, but it has to be admitted that some have fallen down, and there is room for betterment in this department.

Mattoon is at the bottom, but if form shows for anything the Hostlers will not be there long. They have good "stickers" among them and during the last games here have shown wonderful improvement in team work. In fact, no fault can be found with the team work. The players are all strong and Mattoon looks anything but a tail-end.

Danville had bad luck in the outset but is now at the top. Vincennes lost some of her chances of getting a good lead by having to take the road before the Indians did. Cairo also played the first few series with a crippled team and is now playing good fast ball. Jacksonville also is showing better form and the new Illinois towns will make a hard fight for the pennant.

As it is the teams are well bunched and little can be told of what will be the outcome of the next fifteen games. It would not be much of a remarkable feat for some of the tail-enders to go to the top, and the Kitty league results are as uncertain as some of the stunts pulled off in the Cairo Bulletin office, when "Illa Jaggs," "King" Varnbaker, takes on a fresh pill and begins rowing things through the halos of smoke.

Expert accountants in this particular branch of figuring are at a premium, and no one seems to be willing to make a venture.

Dan Wright, a big strapping twirler from the wilds of Ohio state, is here and has spread his war paint. He looks like a valuable addition to the staff of throwers, but has yet to show his gait. Those who know him say he is "other with the goods," and Wright, if he is "right," will show the Jacksonville "Go-Betweens" something to go to bed and sleep over.

Today the bunch that squirmed to hock juice and did everything else unbecoming gentlemen when the Indians visited Jacksonville, is here. Three straight defeats set the "Go-Betweens" to thinking and the best way to get out of the situation was to tell a cock and bull story about the Kentuckians and their moonshine liquor and big guns. The joke took Danville has a good team, but give Paducah her pitching staff and the Indians will win everything from them. The Old Soldiers are fairly good hitters and field well, but when it comes to team and fast hand work they are not in it with Lloyd's men.—Vincennes Capital.

The Cairo Bulletin is the only newspaper in the Kitty league that does not say something real good about some one player in the Kitty league. If anything is credited to a player the writer generally shows up some deficiency, or alleged deficiency. What's the matter anyway; are there no good, throngh, reliable players in the league except Cairo's?

THE DANGERS OF DUST.

We suppose we may assume that the expressed intention of the city government, in conjunction with the Traction company, to "sprinkle" all the streets upon which rails have been laid, beginning June 1, will be carried out. It is the least the city government can do; it is something the Traction company ought to have done long ago. That much done, it may be possible next year to see to it that the entire city is sprinkled, though we should not wait until next year to offer to the citizens every facility for keeping down the dust.

Some years ago Putnam & Son published an interesting little book by Dr. Mitchell Prudden on "Dust and its Dangers." "The particles of dust," says the writer, "such as are usually swept into our faces whenever we go upon the streets in New York in dry or windy weather consist largely of small fragments of sand, broken fibres of plants, pollen, fine hairs, the pulverized excreta of various domestic animals, ashes, fibres of clothing and other fabrics, particles of lime or plaster or soot, parts of seeds of plants, masses and clusters of various kinds of micro organisms and other partially ground-up materials of kinds too numerous to mention."

In a like dust-laden atmosphere we live in Louisville. Look up and down any street at any hour of the day and you will realize the impurities of the atmosphere. In cities whose streets are kept decently clean, says Mr. Prudden, there is little danger of harm from the inhalation of germs because of the constant purifying agency of wind and air, and then he adds:

"If, however, the streets of cities be or allowed to remain filthy so that abundant and pretty constant dust clouds are encountered by those passing through them, the streets not properly sprinkled before sweeping either by machine or hand, if ignorant or careless street cleaners are allowed to scatter clouds of dust about them as they sweep or shovel or transport the pulverized filth, the chances of inhalation of dangerous particles are proportionately increased."

It is in those clouds of dust that the citizens of Louisville live during the whole summer season.—Louisville Post.

Sanitation Hints.

Good sanitation for 1906 should be your motto.

Clean your premises, keep them clean and sprinkle with lime.

Screen your doors and windows and keep out the housefly, the most dangerous of pests. It carries disease and infection.

The most effective money spent in advertising Paducah will be that spent in cleaning and draining it. Every citizen can help to do this, in their own way.

No mosquitoes, no malaria. A clean city no danger of yellow fever and typhoid.

PADUCAH CHURCH FAVORS THE UNION

In Reality Cumberland Presbyterians is Misnomer.

Sessions Said Unanimously to Support Presbyterian Church of United States.

MEETING MAY BE HELD SOON

In reality, a prominent churchman stated, Paducah has no Cumberland Presbyterian church, although the name of the organization has not been changed by the congregation. In the movement for union with the Presbyterian church of the United States this congregation has joined, and it is stated that the session is unanimously in favor of the change.

A church meeting probably will be held some time in the near future when a new name for this church will be adopted, signifying its merger into the new Presbyterian union. In this Paducah is saved a long struggle, which is expected in other places, where the church is divided, and two parties are claiming the title to the property.

The loyalists, as they called themselves, attempted to enjoin the action of the general assembly in uniting with the new Presbyterian church. The delegates, where they were supported by their churches, decided to reorganize the Cumberland general assembly church and carry into it their church property. In some places there is a division on the question, and litigation is expected to follow over possession of the property.

Better Cigar Values at Lower Prices Than Ever Sold Before

A Direct-dealing plan That Cuts Out Four Profits and Much Expense

NATIONAL CIGAR STANDS

Here's An Example of the way the National Cigar Stands save the smoker money

Here's a full, plump Perfecto, made by hand of selected seed-and-Havana leaf. It is just such a cigar as is sold in the average cigar store at 8 for 25 cents; a fragrant, mild, smooth combination that pleases more smokers than any other class of cigars known to the trade. This is its name and trade mark—both will be famous:

BLACK AND WHITE

and its price (in Perfecto or Bouquet size), is

FIVE CENTS STRAIGHT

This 3 for 25-cent quality at 5 cents is a good example of the result reached by this combination of 2,000 drug store cigar stands into a single, compact, powerful buying concern. It cuts out profits and expenses that have heretofore nearly doubled the cost of cigars. National Cigar Stands now give the same qualities often at half what they used to cost; always for less.

Adad: a first class domestic cigar, presenting superior workmanship. 7 for 25c

College Days: an extra good domestic cigar of a quality unequalled anywhere at. 8 for 25c

Lord Carver: choice type of popular Havana-filled, Sumatra-wrapped cigar, the best ever sold at. 3 for 25c

Cuba-Roma: rich, choice Cuban-grown leaf, quality seldom seen at 8 for 25 cents. 5c

La Isidora: splendid clear Havana, better leaf and more of it than have ever been sold at same prices

..... 3 for 25c and up

Fior de Madrid: extra fine quality of clear Havana in fine sizes; 17 shapes, a sample of which take the Perfecto, a 3 for 60-cent cigar at. 2 for 25c

El Cervajal: superb imported Havana line, finest tobacco and workmanship to be had at any price. Nine sizes. Note especially the Panetela Chica. 10c

TO DEVELOPMENT OFFERS NO CHECK

President Has Own Views In Regard to the West.

Permits Right of Way for Railroad Through Canyon Reserved for Irrigation.

GIVE WAY TO IMPROVEMENTS

Washington, June 5.—President Roosevelt has recently defined his policy concerning the reclamation work in the west by giving David H. Moffatt, who is building a railroad from Denver to Salt Lake, a right of way through Gore Canyon of the Grand River, which had been reserved by the secretary of the interior for a reservoir to store water for the irrigation of about 2,000,000 acres of arid lands in Colorado and the adjacent states. The reclamation service is now engaged upon 23 projects in Colorado and the adjacent states, involving an investment of $36,000,000 in reservoirs and canals, which will irrigate 2,500,000 acres of land in the arid state. It has surveyed the entire arid and semi-arid regions and has located for future operations about thirty other reservoirs for future construction at an estimated cost of $100,000,000, for the reclamation of about 4,000,000 acres of desert land. These locations have been withdrawn from entry by the secretary of the interior and reserved for the future. The entire fund available for reclamation purposes is now allotted but the money will all come back into the treasury as fast as the present operations are completed, and the reclaimed land is sold, when it will be used over and over again for a similar purpose in other localities.

Gore Canyon of the Grand river, or the Kremmling Reservoir project, as it is officially called, is one of the most extensive and important items in the reclamation program for the future, but there is no money available for its development at present, and it cannot be touched for several years. It was the intention of the reclamation service to get at it as soon as possible.

Material Development.
While the president is deeply interested in the work of the reclamation bureau, he takes the ground that its plans for future work should not be allowed to block the material development of the west, and that when they conflict with great important public improvements they must give way. Each case, however, will be decided upon its own merits whenever it may arise. If it shall appear to him that possible future interests of the irrigation service should be sacrificed to actual present railway extension he will order the reservations canceled.

When I called his attention to his action in the case of the Gore Canyon the president said:

"Mr. Stewart impressed me very much, for he is a man of right probability, upon whose judgment I can de-

Moffatt and associates are building a railroad to develop northwest Colorado, a territory of immense coal fields and an area of 10,000 square miles suitable to stock, crops and recreation. This road goes through to Salt Lake City, a distance of 500 miles, and calls for about $25,000,000. About $6,000,000 have already been expended. York, which is the purpose of the organization. At New York about two-thirds of all the immigrants enter. The total immigration of the present calendar year will be in the neighborhood of 1,200,000. It may go to 1,300,000. The country is interested in having this immense flood of newcomers diffused among the districts which need them. These are the south and the west. At present more than half of the immigrants remain in the North Atlantic states, where the labor market is congested.

For several years the south has been making a bid for immigrants, and although it is getting more of them now than it did a short time ago, it is not getting 1-10th as many as it could utilize. Possibly the society which is about to be formed may divert a larger current of immigration to the south than has been seen thus far. The country will be glad to have the south succeed in its endeavor to make its section attractive to our new arrivals. The south has many avenues for profitable employment for more men than are likely to enter it in the next few years. It is growing with great rapidity, but it has been hampered thus far by lack of workers. Possibly the new immigration commission will supply some of this deficiency in laborers. The west will probably be able to take care of itself in bidding for immigration, but it could give employment to more of the newcomers than has been getting in the past few years.

Matchless Workmanship.

Most diseases are of spinal origin. That is a characteristic generalization of Osteopathy in a nutshell, and is a contention that has never been disproved.

The Osteopathic diagnosis, and treatment are new and original, and percentage of cures have attracted wide attention. This is history that cannot be successfully challenged.

We apply in a new way and with new force, old principles that are a part of the recognized, but theoretical teachings of every school of practice, but in an unscientific form.

You cannot study the anatomy of the spinal column without marveling that it so seldom gets out of order. It is the most matchless piece of workmanship in all mechanics, and the wonder is that it should, sometimes, from the way it is abused, do its work at all.

By all laws of physics the spine is liable at any moment to get out of order. It is subject to slips, wrenches, pressures, deadlocks, sprains, contractions, and congestions—any one of which will set up disorders—all of which require only an intelligent engineer to adjust to relieve and cure.

The Osteopath is that engineer.

In just a few moments I can easily explain to you why and how Osteopathy is achieving such a wonderful success in curing all kinds of chronic and acute illnesses and I shall take great pleasure in doing so.

Just now you may have a touch of the Spring ailment, to which we Paducahs are heir. If so, let me tell you how easily, how quickly such ailments yield to the Osteopathic treatment.

YARD PITS IT TO SHAME.

Judge Lightfoot Warned of Result of His Course.

The court house has been repainted and repaired and is anything but an unattractive building. The court house yard would not be recognized as the yard it was two years ago, and it is all due to the efforts of County Judge R. T. Lightfoot and the fiscal court.

The best illustration of the beauty of the court house yard can be summed up in a statement made Judge Lightfoot this morning. An admirer of the yard sought him out and said:

"Look here, Judge, if you keep putting down concrete walks, and marks, making this yard so beautiful, you will make us ashamed of the court house and will have to move it out and put up a new one, in keeping with the yard."

CONVENTION FOR MISSIONARY WORK

Memphis Conference Societies to Meet in Paducah.

Broadway Methodist Church Will entertain One Hundred Delegates Next Week.

ELECTION OF NEW PRESIDENT

The annual meeting of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the Memphis conference will be held at the Broadway Methodist church June 12-14. There will be from 75 to 100 delegates, every church in the conference having representatives. The opening address will be delivered Tuesday night by the Rev. A. N. Highfill, of the first church in Jackson, Tenn. The election of officers this year will be notable from the necessity of electing a president, as Mrs. Samuel Watson, of Memphis, who has been president for twenty-five years, died ten days ago. Mrs. T. H. King, of Memphis, the vice-president, will preside over the meeting.

Miss Alice Waters, who has been a missionary in China for many years, will be present, and as many as twenty ministers are expected. Thursday night Mrs. Amelia Barnes, editor of "Our Little Works," a juvenile paper, will address the younger societies in the church.

It has been suggested that the other denominations in the city give reports of the work of their missionary societies to show what Paducah does for foreign missions. It was stated that the missionary societies of all churches are the most active features today in the church organizations.

Syndicate Investment.

We offer a special opportunity for those who would like to join a syndicate and put in from $100 to $7,000, and in all probability make 50 per cent on the money in three years. We have 42 houses in Worthington's South Side Addition that we can sell for $24,000; $7,000 cash and the balance $200 per month, and no these houses have a gross rental value of $360 per month. It is probable that all it will cost the purchaser is the first payment, as the tenants will pay the rest. This makes a liberal allowance for losses, vacant houses and expenses. Six vacant lots will be included without extra charge in this proposition. We believe this is one of the best opportunities we have ever offered to investors. It is probable that the electric car line will go out Tennessee street through this addition and in this event this property would rise rapidly in value. It is an easy matter to make money out of the above proposition, and we will give any desired information concerning it to any one interested. Anyone having $100 or more to invest would do well to investigate this matter, and call on or telephone us, and it may be that the investment will pay three dollars for each.

OPEN PUBLICITY

The Truest Guaranty of Merit.

OPEN TO EVERYBODY is the fullest information as to the properties and uses of the several ingredients entering into Dr. Pierce's family medicines. Not only are the ingredients printed in plain English, each bottle wrapped in a little book of extracts from numerous standard authorities of all the different schools of medical practice, extolling these several ingredients and giving their properties and uses, has been compiled by Dr. R. V. Pierce, and will be mailed free by him to the address of any one sending a postal card or letter to him at Buffalo, N. Y., and requesting a copy of the same.

It is the way the afflicted, who may think favorably of using these non-secret medicines, are taken in. Dr. Pierce's full confidence and are informed as to the properties and uses of each of the several vegetable ingredients of which they are composed.

Thus you do not have to rely upon Dr. Pierce's recommendation alone as to the marvelous curative properties possessed by his "Golden Medical Discovery" for the cure of weak stomach, dyspepsia, torpid liver, biliousness, lameness, and kindred ailments, nor of his "Favorite Prescription" for the cure of weak, nervous, invalid women, for you have in addition the strongest kind of endorsement of each and every ingredient entering into the composition of these world-famed medicines by numerous leading medical writers of the several schools of practice. In fact nothing which Doctor Pierce has ever said in recommendation of these medicines is quite so strong as the laudatory of their merits as what has indirectly been said of them through the numerous unqualified endorsements and recommendation of each of their several ingredients by the leading writers on Materia Medica.

Of course these endorsements were written from entirely disinterested motives and are therefore the more valuable. They were written to instruct medical practitioners in the properties and uses of these wonderful ingredients enter into Doctor Pierce's medicines, the writers not being aware that they were extolling and endorsing ingredients which are used in these medicines. Hence the great value of these highest possible endorsements, coming, as they do, from leaders of the medical profession in the matter of Materia Medica.

Among the well-known authorities will be found Dr. Dugald Hare, Johnson, Wm. King, Schreiber, Hale, Cope, Ellingwood and many others.

The ingredients are all indigenous, or native, medicinal roots. Dr. Pierce believes that medicine can cure disease only as it assists Nature to overcome the abnormal or diseased conditions. For thus assisting Nature in throwing off disease, Dr. Pierce believes the best and only real remedies are to be found in Nature's Laboratory. In the course of medical study found in this country, Providence has stored up most valuable active corrective principles, which, when scientifically extracted and combined in just the right proportions, as in Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, are most effective in curing a long list of chronic or lingering and most obstinate diseases.

In chronic, bronchial, throat and lung affections accompanied with coughs or loss of voice, constipation, profuse expectoration and even bleeding from lungs, Golden Medical Discovery has proven a sovereign remedy.

In cases of weak stomach, indigestion, dyspepsia, ulceration of stomach or bowels, torpid liver, or biliousness, the "Golden Medical Discovery" has never been excelled as a tonic and invigorator which puts the affected organs in prime and enables them to perform their proper functions. It purifies and enriches the "Reasons Why" - Dyspepsia

Self-poisoning is the most common form of disease. Not with drug poisons, but with the poison made inside the body—uric acid. Every good physician now knows that uric acid causes Dyspepsia, all stomach troubles and nine-tenths of all diseases.

So, avoiding disease or curing disease plainly depends on driving out the uric acid.

HOW URIC ACID CAUSES DISEASE

Improper food causes what your physician calls congestion.

He means that the tiny blood vessels in your stomach are affected and the blood is unable to pass through them.

So at once the little grains of uric acid in your blood become lodged and work their way into the tissues of the stomach.

The irritation and congestion that follows is named Dyspepsia, indigestion, ulcer of the stomach, etc. The cause is always uric acid.

This is the "Reason Why" of all stomach trouble. The cure is the removal of the uric acid. The proof is the thousands who have been cured.

URIC ACID SYMPTOMS

Sour stomach, belching, pain in the stomach, and poor digestion. These are the forerunners of serious stomach trouble. Headache, biliousness, backache, and menstrual disorders—all show uric acid to be at work.

RIf you have any stomach trouble, cure yourself by driving out the cause of disease. Take LIFE PLANT. It is the common sense remedy—a natural tonic and solvent of uric acid.

THE MAN ON THE BOX

By HAROLD MacGRATH
Author of "The Gray Clerk," "The Puppet Case."

Copyright, 1904, The Bobbs-Merrill Company.

"Scott Circle, and don't, pommel that old nag's bones in trying to get there. I've plenty of time."

"I reckon I won't pommel him, sub. Skit! skit!" and the vehicle rattled out into broad Pennsylvania Avenue, but for the confusion and absurdity of its architectural structures, the handsomest thoroughfare in America.

Warburton leaned back luxuriously against the faded horse-hair cushion and lighted a cigar, which he smoked with relish, having had a hearty breakfast on the train. It was not quite nine o'clock and a warm October haze lay on the peaceful city. Here were people who did not rush madly about in the pursuit of riches. Rather they proceeded more soberly, even leisurely, as if they knew what the day's work was and the rewards attendant, and were content. Trunks, those formidable engines of commerce, neither rumbled nor thundered along the pavements, nor congested the thoroughfares. Nobody hurried into the shops, nobody hurried out. There were no scampering, yelling newsboys. Instead, along the ranks of the market sat hale negro boys, some of them selling papers to those who wanted them and some sandwiched in between baskets of popcorn and peanuts. There was a marked scarcity of the progressive, intrusive white boy. Old negro mammies passed to and fro with the day's provisions.

Glancing over his shoulder, Warburton saw the capitol shining in the sun like some enchanted palace out of Wonderland. He touched his cap, conscious of a thrill in his spine. And there, far to his left, loomed the Washington monument, glittering like a shaft of opals. Some orderlies dashed by on handsome bays. How splendid they looked, with their blue trousers and broad yellow stripes! This was before the army adopted the comfortable but shabby brown duck. How he longed to throw a leg over the back of a good horse and gallop away into the great green country beyond.

The only things which moved with the hustling spirit of the times were the cabbies, and doubtless these would have gone slower but for the invisible and immutable power which propelled them. But now he was passing the huge and dingy mangle treasury building, round past the executive mansion with its spotless white stone, its stately portico and its plush lawns.

"Go slow, uncle; I haven't seen this place since I was a boy."

"Yes, sub. How d' y' like it? Wouldn't y' like t' live in int house, sub?"—the commodore grinned.

"One can't stay there long enough to please me, uncle. It takes four years to get used to it; and then, when you begin to like it, you have to pack up and clear out."

"It's de way dey goes, sub. We go eroun' Lafayette, er do yuh want t' see de wa, department, sub?"

"Never mind now, uncle; Scott Circle."

"Scott Circle she am, sub."

The old ark wheeled round Lafayette Square and finally rolled into Sixteenth street. When at length it came to a stand in front of a beautiful house, Warburton evinced his surprise openly. He knew that his brother's wife had plenty of money, but not such a plenty as to afford a house like this.

"Are you sure, uncle, that this is the place?"

"Dere's de Circle, sub, an' yuh can see de nummin fo' y'as', sub."

"How much do I owe you?"

"I reckon 'bout fifty cents'll make it, sub."

Warburton gave him a dollar, marvelling at the difference between the cash here and in New York. He grasped his case and leaped up the steps at a bound, and pressed the bell. A prim little maid answered the call.

"Does Mr. John Warburton live here?" he asked breathlessly.

"Yea, sir."

"Fortunate John!" he cried, pushing past the maid and standing in the hall of his brother's household, unheralded and unannounced. "Jack!" he bawled.

The maid eyed the handsome intruder, her face expressing the utmost astonishment. She touched his arm.

"Sir!" she began.

"It's all right, my dear," he interrupted.

She stepped back, wondering whether to scream or run.

"Hi, Jack! I say, you old henpecked, where are you?"

The dining-room door slid back and a tall, studious-looking gentleman, rather plain than otherwise, stood on the threshold.

"Jane, what is all this—Why, Bob, you scoundrel!"—and in a moment they were pumping hands at a great rate. The little maid leaned weakly against the heelstrade.

"Kit, Kit! I say, Kit, come and see who's here!" cried John.

An extraordinarily pretty little woman, whose parlor any woman would have understood, but no man on earth, and who was dressed in a charming pink negligee morning-gown, hurried into the hall.

"Why, it's Bob!" She flung her arms around the prodigal and kissed him heartily, held him away at arm's length, and hugged and kissed him again. I'm not sure that Mr. Robert didn't like it.

Suddenly there was a swish of starched skirts on the stairs, and the most beautiful woman in all the world

WHY EIGHT-DAY

MALT IS BEST

This Process Gets All of the Food Value of the Barley Into the Malt.

The usual four-day process of making malt for brewing may be compared to the unnatural rapid growth of grain planted in midsummer. It makes malt quickly, but at the sacrifice of the vital food quality of the grain.

Malt, as most of our readers probably know, is the life, the substance of beer, and the food value of any beer depends on the richness of the malt from which it is made.

Pabst exclusive eight-day malt is made in Nature's own way, by slow growth of the barley. All of the food value of the barley is thus retained in Pabst eight-day Malt, and makes Pabst Blue Ribbon Beer the richest in food strength.

Pabst Blue Ribbon Beer is always pure and clean. The choicest hops and chemically pure water are used with Pabst eight-day malt in the brewing. All the money in the world could not buy better, purer ingredients.

The entire Pabst process is famous among physicians and scientists for its positive cleanliness. From the mashing of the eight-day malt until the finished product is poured into your glass Pabst Blue Ribbon Beer never comes in contact with anything that is not absolutely clean.

It is fermented in sealed tanks into which no impurity can enter. It is run through sterilized tubes and pipes, stored for months in sterilized hermetically sealed storage tanks and pasteurized after being bottled.

This exclusive process places Pabst Blue Ribbon Beer beyond the possibility of contamination. It comes to you perfect in age, purity and strength, the best beer brewed.

In June, I have always loved him,

Bob. And he wants you to be his best man."

"Only in photograph, said the homeless one, putting three lumps of sugar in his coffee because he was about.

"And you have turned 28," said Kit, counting on her fingers.

"That makes you 24, Nan," Jack laughed.

"And much I care!" replied Nancy, shaking her head defiantly. I've a sneaking idea that she was thinking of me when she made this declaration. For if I didn't care, why should she?

"A handsome, stunning girl like you, Nan, ought to be getting married," observed the prodigal. "What's the matter with all these dukes and lords and princes, anyhow?"

An embarrassed smile ran around the table, but Mr. Robert mimed it by several inches.

Jack threw a cigar across the table. "Now," said he, "where the deuce did you come from?"

"Indirectly from Arizona, which is a synonym once removed for war."

Jack looked at his plate and laughed; but Mrs. Jack wanted to know what Bob meant by that.

"It's a word used instead of war, as applied by the late Gen. Sherman," Jack replied. "And I am surprised that a brother-in-law of yours should so far forget himself as to bim it even."

"By the way, Jack," said my hero, lighting the cigar and blowing the first puff toward the ceiling, his face admirably set with nonchalance, "do you know of a family named Annesley—Col. Annesley?" I knew it would take only a certain length of time for this question to arrive.

"Col. Annesley? Why, yes. He was in the war department until a year ago. A fine strategist; known every in and out of the coast defenses, and is something of an inventor; lots of money, too. Tall, handsome old fellow."

"But what will you do here all alone?"

"Play with the kid, smoke and read; make myself at home. You still smoke that Louisiana, Jack?"

"Yes,"—"dubiously.

"So, now, don't let me interfere with your plans for to-night. I haven't been in a home in so long that it will take more than one night for the novelty to wear off. Besides, that nurse of yours, Kit, is good to look at."—a bit of the rogue in his eye.

"Bob!"—from both women.

"I promise not to look at her; I promise."

"Well, I must be off," said John. "I'm late now. I've a dozen plans for coast defenses to go over with an inventor of a new carriage-gun. Will you go with me, while I put you up at the Metropolitan, or will you take a shopping trip with the women?"

"I'll take the shopping trip. It will be a sensation. Have you any horses?"

"Six."

"Six! You are a lucky pup: a handsome wife, a bouncing boy, and six horses! Where's the stable?"

"In the rear. I keep only two stallions; one to take care of the horses and one to act as groom. I'm off. I'm a cracking good hunter, if you'd like a leg up. We'll all ride to Chevy Chase Sunday. By-by, till lunch."

Mr. Robert immediately betook himself to the stables, where he soon became intimately acquainted with the English groom. He fussed about the harness-room, deplored the lack of a McClelland saddle, admired the English curb, and complimented the men on the cleanliness of the stables. The men exchanged shy smiles at first, but these smiles soon turned into grins of admiration. Here was a man who knew a horse from his oiled hoofs to his curried forelock.

"This fellow ought to jump well," he said, patting the sleek neck of the bunter.

"He begin to see," said the brother.

"See what?"

"Have a match; your cigar has gone out."

Robert relighted his cigar and puffed like a threshing-machine engine.

John leaned toward Nancy. "Shall I tell him, Nan?"

Nancy blushed. "I suppose he'll have to know sooner or later."

"Know what?" asked the third person singular.

"Your charming sister is about to bring you a brother-in-law."

"What?" You could have heard this across the street.

"Yes, Bobby dear. And don't look so hurt. You don't want me to be-
